

EUROCORPS

A Force for the European Union and NATO

Brigadier General Stéphane PAU

Brigadier Stéphane Pau was born in La Flèche, France, on April 17th, 1964. After having completed the French officers' school at Saint-Cyr in 1987, he opted for the infantry.

Then, he served as platoon leader in the 170th Infantry Regiment and as a Deputy Company Commander in the 3rd Infantry Regiment of the French Foreign Legion in Kourou – French Guiana. Returning to his native France in 1993, he was posted to the 4th Foreign Legion Regiment where he commanded the Training Company for NCOs. He then moved on to the Infantry School, as an instructor for junior infantry officers, then infantry doctrine.

After having completed the French Staff Officers' Course and within the French War College, he was posted as an exchange and liaison officer at the 2^d division of the USMC, in 2002. In 2005, he took over the head of the planning office of the 4th French division.

In the summer of 2007, he took command of the 4th Foreign Legion Infantry Regiment and then served as the Chief of Staff of the 6th Light Armored Brigade in 2009.

Assigned to the French Land Forces Command (CFT) he became the exercises programming and evaluation office chief.

In 2014, he was once more posted to the US as the Branch Chief for the Middle East within the CENTCOM Combined Strategic Analysis Group (CSAG).

From July 2017 to summer 2019, he commanded the Joint Center for Actions on the Environment, the French CMI/CIMIC and Influence Center in Lyon.

On promotion to Brigadier General, he assumed the functions of Deputy Commander of the Defense and Security Zone South-East and Commander of the Army Zone South-East 2019-2020.

Brigadier General Stéphane Pau has conducted operational missions in the DRC, twice in Ivory Coast, once as Force Commander of Operation Licorne in 2011 and was also deployed in the framework of Operation Sangaris as Deputy Commander in 2013. He also participated in operations in the Horn of Africa and Haiti during his assignment to the USMC.

Brigadier General Stéphane Pau is Officer of the French Legion of Honor and Legion of Merit (US). He is married and the father of six.

DDCOS | and A

