Dear Sir, Dear Madam,

One candidate issued the question below regarding the aforementioned Invitation For Bidding IFB 25INV08 – Acquisition of Screens:

“pouvez-vous nous indiquer si les variantes sont autorisées ? Proposer plusieurs modèles “

“ Is it possible for a candidate to offer a variant, to propose more than one model?

- Given that, to propose different models is not considered as “a variant” but an alternative offer
- Given that “a variant” is a technical proposal that differs from the solution defined in the technical specifications but provides an equivalent result,
- Given that the technical specifications are precisely defined in this IFB
- Given that the evaluation is mainly based on the price and the respect of technical specifications
 - ➔ To propose an alternative offer is not considered as “a variant”
 - ➔ Candidates may propose maximum 2 (two) different models
 - ➔ Each proposal will be analyzed as an independent offer

NB: to propose an alternative model shall induce a real difference between 2 offers.

I kindly remind to all recipients of this message to send Acknowledgement of Receipt indicating your intention or nor to take part in this competition.

Best regards,

Michael WAHL
